

In the third grade, Margaret Eyring stood up to much larger students bullying a special needs boy, Joey. She watched over him at recess to ensure he was not being harassed. That seed planted in the heart of a little girl, on that school playground, was the start of a lifelong ambition to help when or where she can. Margaret feels that if we each do one thing to help, no matter how small or big, the world would be a much better place for all of us but especially the one being helped and the one helping.

Margaret most recently retired as a federal civil servant after 10 years of employment at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, North Little Rock, Arkansas. She held the position as the Army Arkansas National Guard (AR NG) Military Funeral Honor Program Coordinator for 10 years. Prior to joining the AR NG team and after her military retirement, she was a volunteer turned employee at a local Pregnancy Resource Center managing medical records and receptionist duties, then Office Manager for the Abstinence Education Assistance program, which she did until the grant ended. Margaret is very proud that to have retired as a Master Sergeant from the US Air Force with 22 years of service. Her specialties were Administration and Personnel. The last position she held on active duty was Superintendent, Customer Service at Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas.

During her Military, civilian and federal civilian careers, Margaret assisted thousands of military service members, dependents, civilian employees, civilians and foreign national with transactions and services too numerous to count.

She holds a Bachelor's of Science in Human Resources and Management from Park University Parkville, Mo; an Associate degree in Administration from Pima Community College, Tucson, AZ; and an Associate degree in General Studies, Community College of the Air Force.

Margaret currently volunteers one day a week at the Little Rock Air Force Base Retiree Office assisting with customer's needs.
